DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

> A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –
> (e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

> (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1-9 and 11-37 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Hsu et al. US 2002/0120082 or Halasa et al. US 2005/0131181.

4. The rejection set forth under 35 USC 102/103 in the paper mailed 12/17/09 is deemed proper and is herein repeated. Applicant's remarks filed 3/17/09 have been fully considered but have been found not persuasive.

5. Applicant's primary point of contention is that the art teaches process oils while not suggesting a method of removing the PCA's from the oil. It is further alleged that the process oils supplied in Japan prior to 2002 had large amounts of PCA's contained therein. As such, applicant concludes that the process oils of the prior art must have PCA's greater than 1.0 part by mass. This is not persuasive. First and foremost, applicants allegations are unsubstantiated. There is simply no reason to conclude that the incorporation of the process oil in the art renders the claimed composition patentable. Process oil is seen to be generic to naphthenic, paraffinic and/or mineral oils. Paraffinic and/or mineral oils are known to have low polycyclic contents. As such, it is not conclusive that the art contains the PCA's. Further, PCA's are known to be carcinogenic. It would be abundantly obvious to use a non-carcinogenic oil in place of the oil known to be carcinogenic.

6. Once again, the patentability of product-by-process claims is determined by the product as claimed.

7. With respect to Halasa, applicants argue that the modified polymer asclaimed is terminally modified and Halasa teaches that the amino group is pendant to the chain. This is not persuasive. The claims do not recite terminal modification, but rather, "polymer chain" having the modifier. In response to applicant's argument that the references fail to show certain features of applicant's invention, it is noted that the features upon which applicant relies (i.e., terminal modification) are not recited in the rejected claim(s). Although the claims are interpreted in light of the specification, limitations from the specification are not read into the claims. See In re Van Geuns, 988 F.2d 1181, 26 USPQ2d 1057 (Fed. Cir. 1993).

Conclusion

8. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
